

Emerging Risks: 2025 and beyond

Elena Pykhova

Outline

This essential workshop focusses on Emerging Risks for 2025 and beyond, examining the most critical risk topics that firms should have on their radar. The workshop provides a practical guide to establishing the horizon scanning process and measuring emerging risks using scenario analysis. Learn from the expert who advises boards and senior management, providing foresight and enabling organisations to be forward- rather than backward looking. From exploring the dynamic and ever-changing risk landscape to defining, identifying and quantifying emerging risks, to engaging the stakeholders and deriving the maximum value out of the exercise, the workshop will enable participants to benchmark their approach with peers and discuss the most topical risks on the agenda.

The course is based on Elena's book: Operational Risk Management in Financial services, which enables continuous learning.
